complete and a poem of milosz nor simple and only one page in length

I will write a poem called 'novel' and mention a novel afore I die

how to write a novel afore writing a novel to begin with a title or to begin writing inductively

I begin with a title

the novel

the objective of a writing plan beginning with a title context: a medium sized city with near agrarian communities and that which affects one individual within the medium sized city planned four hundred pages approximate ten to twenty page chapters as upon my writing desk a framed note of thought thinking is not writing the course of writing a novel upon having established a novel outline of plot is two years planned and written for my own interests and written for an audience to say that which is noteworthy as literature is not necessarily well received at the bookstore in the form of us currency and to be satisfied upon a novel's completion were there publishing interest or not what is within a writer's control ink on paper an audience is earned the novel begins

position is advocacy to believe all are satisfied thus what intrusion to any advocacy to believe equality as concept what middledom to believe inequality what method to equity inwhich [some] is given to a lesser equal of [some] variety is the position of the electee to have determined a position an advocacy of which they are one of many votes within a democratic structural ideal to elect a single advocative position within themself may or may not be contest to other advocative ideals ie to say five through eighteen year olds are required to learn abc 123's and foundational subjects foundationally and to say roads are necessary and to say appropriate health care and to say clean air and to say parks and to say positive outlook for those to be alive in two hundred years is to regard a compatibility a compatibility may not be actual were one to account for economic costs for available land and other resources and to believe a character and ambition are the same for each individual which is not the case

I vote

I acknowledge voting is reactive a candidate is proactive and upon being elected democratically the candidate holds office and is then proactive with a speaking podium among eg senatorial voters as well as constituent audience proaction among nonelected people may be a varied campaign eg picking up trash in a neighborhood may be writing a book may be an advocacy for particular corporate products a boycott is reactive I find a similar product afore I stop using a product of shortcomings academic interest

I wanted to be a clinical psychologist when I was in eighth grade I decided developmental psychology by eleventh grade was a more interesting career pursuit in college I took biopsychology statistics personality theory experimental psychology after college I collected behavioral data with the us department of health and human services after which I attended graduate classes funded by the us department of education including student teaching and introduction to john dewey and the concept of curriculum I humorously mention to those who ask that I switched to behaviorism after my undergraduate psychology degree I advance my graduate studies in an educational foundations program and further mention I switched to literary behaviorism of the varieties of concentrated educational foundation areas ie philosophy history law sociology anthropology I prefer the study of educational philosophy education philosophy philosophy is not history I further advanced my graduate studies in educational policy education policy to say my early interest in psychology evolved into a teaching perspective and again to a policy perspective is to say my academic interest has shaped my literary interest my literary interest has remained consistent and my free writing includes inspiration from poetry classics novels film and contemporary media including news when america was still new [inspired by the first three chapters of tocqueville recommended by newt gingrich before I followed newt gingrich on twitter on twitter newt gingrich mentioned his wife's church in independence, wisconsin] in my interpretation tocqueville was a learned man from france anthropologizing america france too is democratic in character and idea and has an history of marie antoinette beheadings and rousseau and challenges with england and speaks a latin language to this day in the eighteen hundreds tocqueville notes a structure of communities mostly european recognizing a democratic ideal anglos agrarianism and a character of geographies including diet including lobsters religion exists in the eighteen hundreds and communities were or were not begat upon particular religious ideals the likes of puritanism quakerism slave trade-ism / capitalism there are boats and commercialism and expansionism ho to believe a democracy is satisfactory with regards to the common webster's english dictionary with regards to exchange of value including barter-ism as economic tocqueville is narrative naturally in a way thoreau was narrative in describing land tocqueville is narrative socially in a way whitman was poetic in describing people and groups of people not necessarily in admiration though objective the title of tocqueville's book _democracy in america_
