what I gather

Indigenous tribes from what is now called the green bay area migrated five hundred years ago to what is now known as the sauk city area ignatians migrated from what is now known as the green bay area to what is now known as the sauk city area four hundred years ago august derleth was a writer from sauk city and said so august derleth [the writer from sauk city] also phonetically spelled _oui sconsin_ in one of his poems though not his _revenant_ poem whether indigenous groups still exist in sauk city a dam exists between a lake and the mississippi river there is an indian trading post in lake delton there is a smoke shop in sauk city culvers corporate headquarters is in what is now known as the sauk city area there is a canoe rental put in on the wisconsin river across the river from what is now known as sauk city there are eagle appreciation days in january to view the migratory bald eagles there may or may not be an indigenous casino near the indian trading post which sells bones the ignatians may or may not have had beads in their pocket or wild rice in their pocket from the northern wild rice gathering tribes trade may or may not have been important to the ignatians what did the ignatians want if they already had pockets filled with beads and wild rice narrative poetry is boring poetry

The striations of poetry are a consideration of the presentation of poetry [poetics]. A published poetry may be presented in glossy periodical format, and other print forms; a poetry may be presented at a microphone to an audience. Poetic appreciation may be that of the poet; a poetic appreciation may be that of an audience. As one who has read poems in magazines [periodicals], -and as one who has listened to spoken poems [word], -I decide what has appreciative value with the form and content of the poem which is presented. As a poet I decide what is important to write; as well, I decide what is important to verbally present at a microphone to an audience.

and who located the soda machine in the location I found the soda machine because all other soda machines were twenty five cents united states coin currency [.25] a window should open if a person has living space within the window a matter of capitalism is a matter similar and metaphoric to biologic natural selection that which is saleable is not necessarily purchased a grocery store without milk and bread may have a grocery store shoppers go to another grocery store say metaphor for biologic natural selection say herbert spencer say the chocolate is important within the store that maintains its expected hours of operation as well as inventory say corporate natural selection say there are many biologics involved in one corporate franchise [a corporation is not biologic like a mammal is biologic] [a corporation is REI a corporation is sears a corporation is Exxon] and doing what is expected within a united states currency exchange of storefrontism by the same name one mile away by the same name one mile away by the same name one mile away and a degradation of one for a particular reason may be an assumption of the franchise by another franchise were a money paying customers desiring to continue purchasing an items offered under a new franchise title and or leadership biologic natural selection the city planner
